The Tring Community Sports Trust is a registered charity founded by Tring people in 2000, which focuses on helping young people in Tring and surrounding area.

We raise money to pay for professional coaches and teachers to visit local schools to introduce and help young people to enjoy activities that are not generally available either due to cost or time restrictions. This draws young people into activities they perhaps wouldn't otherwise try, and local clubs and societies have noticed significant increases in their numbers of young members, and much more parent involvement.
